

The American College of Emergency Physicians has an article on their website recapping the financial support options available for health care practitioners. Read the full article here:

<https://www.acep.org/covid19financialsupport>